Steam Locomotive #14

After many years of on-again, off-again attempts to restore the 1913 Baldwin Steam Locomotive #14, a 2-8-0, the job is finally complete. Fillmore & Western enlisted some of the most knowledgeable and proficient "steam mechanics" in the business. They worked their magic, putting in countless hours, working with boiler and welding experts, researching the decades-old schematics and adapting and retooling the tender, trucks and body. The engine named the "Tresa Jean" during it's debut in December of 2010 is anticipated to attract many thousands of rail fans and ultimately film production companies seeking an authentic steam locomotive. During the Christmas Tree Trains in 2010 and it's appearances at other holiday and special events through out 2011 and 2012, "Tresa Jean" has brought back memories to many and has created memories for even more. We look forward to another great year of steam.

The home page of our web site, www.fwry.com, keeps a current list of the upcoming scheduled runs. Back in service after a 50-year absence, the #14 reigns as "Queen of the Santa Paula Branch Line"

If you would like to be a part of restoring other historic locomotives and railroad rolling stock Contact CaLoco at www.caloco.org. CaLoco is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization whose goal it is to insure the availability of antique, historical and out of production railroad locomotives for future generations to observe, examine, study and operate.
